Safety and livability

It seems that Neighborhood Watch has become inactive though it's one of the main ways across the USA for using volunteers to connect neighbors with each other to improve relations. The most recent one we could think of is at the park at Lloyd Center when a team of older women made their presence known and the crime rates were reduced,

Parks

The Parks Foundation representative attended the East Portland committee and told us she could accept proposals for capital improvements. The schedule is late June 2020. Contact Diane if you want more information. Diane submitted the ideas for improving Luuwit Park access: {Placing a traffic control at one or two places either side of the school on Fremont Street. The standard is: Every 500 feet install for a safety crossing

Linda Robinson also suggested that a traffic calming feature could be a part of the project. The remainder of the submissions would be prioritized with other parks' ideas.

Unfinished business

Scheduling included:

Discussing and deciding the schedule changes required for safeguarding public health due to Corona virus outbreaks.

New business

ATNA meetings will be held online until future notice. This virtual ATNA meeting was held at each persons' home connected by email, phone, and Zoom. At this time this is the desirable method for holding future ATNA meetings.
